

Why Orgonite?

The word Orgonite stems from the word 'orgone' referring to the vital energy that surrounds all of us in nature. This life energy is also called 'Chi', 'Prana', or 'Aether' and can exist as positive and negative energy in many different forms.

When the energy surrounding and within an organism is positive, they exist in a healthy state. But when energy is negative...it becomes 'armored', is unable to flow freely anymore and can become 'DOR' or deadly orgone energy. Just like in nature when water flows freely, it is full of vitality and life within it flourishes. However, if that same water gets stagnant or blocked, it becomes a stinking pool and life within it dies.

Deadly Orgone energy is primarily human made by technology such as microwave transmitters and machines, all electronics (EMF), chemical pollution, destruction of the landscape and also human emotions. The human body itself can also become armored by consistent or lingering emotional issues, traumas and exposure to manmade toxic energy. When this happens, creative expression becomes blocked and emotional release is dammed up causing the whole energy system within the body to contract. The contraction in energy will very slowly or quickly lead to disease within the body. Humans are open energy systems that are constantly exposed to all sorts of energies in their environment. This barrage of energies affects us whether we know it or not. Although we are not able to shield ourselves completely, we can attempt to transform any deadly orgone energy into positive energy via Orgonite.

Orgonite is made up of resins, metals, and sometimes crystals and can be poured into molds of all kinds of shapes. Orgonite functions as a self-driven, continuously operating device that very efficiently draws in negative energy and transmutes it into positive energy. As resin cures, it shrinks creating a piezoelectric effect inside the quartz crystal by squeezing it. As a result, the endpoints become polarized electrically and create a much more effective positive energy generator. Crystals improve the function of Orgonite but are not necessary for the Orgonite to work.

Benefits of Orgonite:

- Brings more vitality and energy.
- Promotes restful sleep.
- Relieves mental and physical stress.
- Aids in spiritual growth.
- Energizes food, water, and herbs/supps.
- Enhances the growth of vegetables and flowers when placed in the garden.
- Creates more harmony in the home or workplace.
- Protects you from negative energies and EMF.
- Helps clear emotional and energetic blocks.

Easily cleared of absorbed negative energy by placing in the sunlight for 1 hour each month or more often if needed.

Each orgone energy generator can be programmed with a special intent or manifestation and reprogrammed as needs and intentions change.

Place Orgonite anywhere in your house/office where there is a heavy concentration of electronics, on a bedside table or anywhere where you or the environment needs balance. Never place the Orgonite directly on anything hot.
